The PALAIS ROYAL

Is Quoting the Lowest Prices in the United States.

The fact is that there's but one other great establishment in the United States with prompt cash the basis in buying and selling, and, with this exception, no other establishment in the United States can buy or sell so advantageously to its proprietor and its patrons. The present distribution of the stock of an exclusive Suit house of New York, whose only failure was credit, is illustrative of the power of this cash business. While prices for these lately acquired garments are phenomenally low, it is no less true that all garments here are at less than prevailing quotations when style and quality are considered. The only exception is the one great department store in New York.

Man-tailored Suits,$17.98 Worth $25.00 to $40.00.

These are exceptional values, seldom found, even here. This fact is emphasized, because you must not make the price a precedent, and must not feel disappointed, or that Palais Royal methods are changed when higher prices are later asked for garments in no way superior. It would be easier—and perhaps safer—to say nothing of this lately acquired stock, charge you our usual less-than-usual prices, and pocket the extra profit. Regular patrons do not need any explanation, and will understand and rejoice in this passing opportunity. Others are learning-our army of "regulars" is growing rapidly.

The Suits Now Here at $17.98.

If they were ordinary $17.98 Suits the cloth would not be shrunk before making; nor would they be man-tailored and finished throughout; nor would they possess the charming ensemble they do. Be fitted with either the 36 or 40 inch models, and note the fit at neck and shoulders, the classic skirt, the envelope pockets, etc.

Exclusive Styles, $35 to $75.

A facsimile of a $100 Paris model is here at only $45.00. It's of satin soleil, empire-princess effect, with tucked filet net yoke, exquisite embroidery and gold braid trimmings, all making this model a facsimile of its Paris prototype. Many one-of-a-kind, exclusive styles are here from $35.00 to $75.00, each priced at least 20 per cent less than the quotation of the credit establishments.

Pure Linen Costumes up to $29.50.

Suits and Dresses are here at $10.98 to $29.50 so immeasurably superior in every respect to the cotton imitations that the prices are really very low. See any of the dresses here at $10.98 and compare them with the best elsewhere at $15.00. Or see the Linen Coat Suit here at $12.58—learn you cannot duplicate it elsewhere in Washington at less than $20.00. At $27.50 are Exquisite 3-piece Linen Suits, of old rose, wistaria, lavender, tan and white, embroidered in self colors.

At $4.98 are Batiste Lingerie Dresses, in $ white, light blue, pink, lavender, tan and champagne, profusely trimmed. The marvel will be how they can be sold for the price. A critical inspection will convince you that they are worth five dollars to make. Plainer Dresses are here for less than $5.00 and equally a wonder.

$4.98—One of Many.

$1.98 and $2.98 for $3 to $6 Waists.

98c for Waists Made to Retail at $1.98.

A fight for supremacy is going on between makers of Lingerie and Plainer Tailor-made Waists. Just as the civilian invokes the law in his fight and finds the lawyers only enriched, so when the makers of waists fight. The difference is that we and you profit instead of the lawyers. Most beautiful of Livgerie Waists, made to retail at $3.00 to $6.00, are yours tomorrow at $1.98 and $2.98.

It's so usual to find o8c Lingerie Waists trimmed with showy but trashy embroideries that it will prove quite a relief to turn to these, guaranteed to come from the laundry intact and as attractive as new.

$1.00 to $7.98 for the Best Man-tailored Waists.

Another agreeable surprise, the vast variety of Tailor-made Waists; $1.00 to $1.98 for India Linen; $1.98 to $2.98 for Pure Linen; $2.98 to $7.98 for Pure Linen, more or less elaborately embroidered by hand.

The Record's Notes.

Put a little hat on in the morning if you will for the promenade, but for 5 o'clocks, weddings and receptions favor the big one if you would be a la mode. Do not let it be a turban or a toque; the turbans are now ruled out of court by the best-dressed women and gated to the service of the matron of mature years.

Ripe for a period of immense approbation is the D'Artagnan model, with its high crown and sweeping brim. It is a black hat made for early spring wear, of crinoline, and is simply massed in luxurious profusion with white ostrich feathers. As many as 15 have been seen upon one hat.

There is no need to renounce the ostrich feather this spring, and, low be spoken, Paris has already repented of her step in the right direction toward the elimination of the bird of paradise and the osprey from her headgear, and is again wearing both types of rare plumage, at prices prohibitive, it is true, to the many, but possible to the wealthy.

This does not argue by any means a disposition to banish flowers from the scene. Many of the hats shown are massed with them. Wallflower, scented if you will, riot over one model; no one can resist gold and the variations of gold in whatsoever form it can be obtained. Tulips flaunt their bold beauty on another model, and there are numbers of women who do not think a hat of the eehive shape massed with peonies too gaudy for their acceptance.
